It is good to reflect on the 1950's and 1960's and the 1970's to analyze the progress that oppressed minorities have made in this country over the span of the last few years. In the 1950's, the need for the battle against racial injustice was apparent. During this time, the fight against racial injustice took the form of overt protests. This could be classified as the beginning of the era of the sit-ins, the boycotts, the marches, etc. Such leaders emerged as Dr. Martin L. King, Malcolm X, et al., all of whom played a significant role in bringing attention to the injustices under which Blacks and other minorities were forced to live.

The injustices at that time were apparent. Blacks, for example, had to sit in the rear of the bus; they were not able to attend many universities, colleges and other schools because of the color of their skin. These apparent injustices existed more in the South than they did in the North and so the biggest war was waged in the South.

By the early 1960's, the fight began to travel throughout the country; through various forms of protest, every state in the Union felt some of the dissatisfaction expressed by the oppressed minorities. In the late 1960's, these protests took on a more violent form when rioting began to take place in a number of major American cities. Because of the unrest of the 50's and 60's, new laws were written and programs were established to help minorities overcome the apparent injustices. Consequently, a change of attitude developed in the minds of those who held positions of power and minorities began to make significant progress toward racial justice and equality.

As a result of the 1950's and 1960's, we have seen minorities take an even more responsible position than ever before. In the early 1970's, it was apparent that the fight against racial injustices were effective and as a result, many leaders of the 1950 and 1960 era took a backseat to the point that they rarely ever speak out to the extent they used to.

Nonetheless, it should be apparent to all oppressed minorities that the racial injustices of the past are still here. Understanding of these injustices now requires more of a level of sophistication because they are more subtle in nature than ever before.

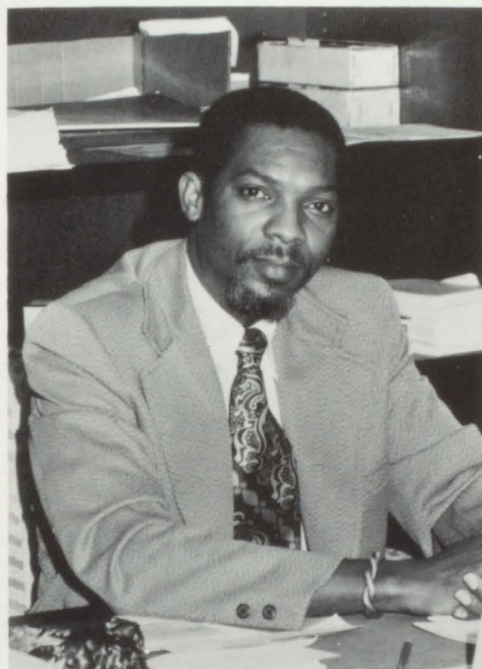

Let us not forget that the oppressed minorities still seek answers to such questions as (a) Why are their schools inferior to other schools? (b) Why are so many oppressed minorities out of work? (c) Why is there a disproportionate number of oppressed minorities in correctional institutions? (d) Why do oppressed minorities still have difficulty getting good housing? These questions and many like them still plague the oppressed minorities and we as a people will not have gotten our just dues until all these problems of injustices are rectified. The Battle has just begun!

The Last Year

We walked, we talked.
We stood tall.
The days we cherished were so
Bright and full of color.
When we turned around,
It was facing us.
Proud as ever. So we were.
It was time to move along.
We all were happy
With something to smile about.
Our last year was here.
The day has come when we are
On our way.
Taking those smooth, easy, soft steps.
There's a little fright as we near.
The courage comes quickly.
As we step proudly.
Knowing that we will never,
Pass this way again.
For it is the last year.

Yesterday

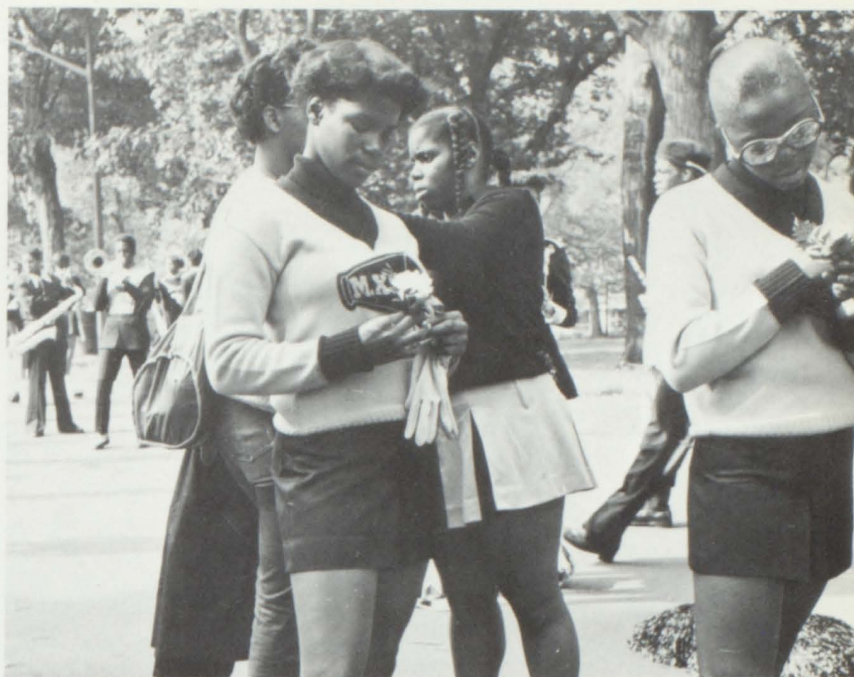

As we look back,
We see happy moments.
What once was our time.
We wonder about that.
I had such a beautiful ring.
A time that made us want to wonder,
More and more.
As the memories rolled back,
We knew it was yesterday,
Because that was where it was.

We, the Class of 1980, being of sound mind and body, do hereby proclaim this to be our Last Will and Testament. To the most deserving seniors and staff, may all those included accept the fact that it is upon you to think about and observe the things herein contained ... and, remember: "Don't even try it!"

To Sherri Hayes we leave the Bugs Bunny, Mr. Ed, Scared Straight Look-Alike Contest. To Lisa Dubose we say, "Now we know why they are shutting down Pathmark." To Nadine Turner we say, "Stop wearing your great, great, great grandmother's shoes." To Tim Grant we ask, "Is there anything you don't know?" To Monica Ellison we leave a pair of Sasson's that will fit. To Cleola Banks we leave some Polygrip so her teeth won't slip. To Malcolm Wall we leave some Chlorox II so he can lighten that skin of his. To Leonard Mann we leave the song, "Cut off the lights, and you can't see Lennie." To Doris Fulwiley we leave a shopping spree as Sizes Unlimited. To Pamela McClain we leave SHOUT so she can shout out that spot. To Idressa we say, "Beauty is skin deep, very deep." To Donnie Days and Jackie Lewis we leave a question, "Who wrestles whom?" To Celitha Horton we leave a book entitled 50 Ways to Get a Man Without Nagging Him to Death. To Jerome Dean we say, "Get it; I Got It; Get It; I Got It; quick get the SIGNAL." To Andrew Thomas and Henry Perry we sing, "It's a brand new day, coming your way, and it doesn't promote tooth decay ... New Trident Sugarless Gum." To Eddie Stevens we ask, "Are you the founder of Shabazz?" To Catherine Chambliss and Wayne Lewis we leave a store on wheels with candy, wallets, hats, and pencils. To Victoria Cannon we leave a voice that will fit her face. To Treasy Brown we ask if you remember this, "Why not me Gloria?" To Charles Manns we say, "For once could you please mind your own business!" To Lori Lewis we ask, "Whom do you really go with?" To Laura Smith we leave a forehead that won't bump into everything she comes in contact with. To Gloria Thornton we ask, "Did Treasy really beg?" To Gigi Ware we leave a sign that fits her face, "Beware!" To Dawn Bingham and Justine Williams we leave someone they can handle, like a brother their own age. To Timothy Stokes we leave "A sprinkle a day helps keep the odor away." To Michelle Davis we leave a gift certificate to "Stuff Your Guts." To Kim Presley we leave a pair of pants that won't hug her hips." To Rocellle Moss we leave a crib and a bottle. To Charles Mitchell we leave the starring role in "Magilla Gorilla." To Lisa Jackson we leave a trophy entitled, "She's the freak of the week." To Raymond Boxley we leave a box hat to fit his head. To Michele Harris we leave the politician of the year award. To Athena Ballard we say, "You're giving Dolly Parton a lot of competition." To Tony Boone we leave a sport he can play. To Kenny Washington and Cecila Kroton we ask, "How's the weather down there?" To Ronnie Williams we leave a Baby Alive doll he can call his own. To President Derrick Tandy we leave the leadership he never had. To Kevin Cheeks we leave the courage to fight back. To Birdie we say, "Find a man who can keep up with you." To the Twirling Squad we leave some Crazy Glue so their uniforms can last another 50 years. To the band we leave 10 members or more ... or shall we say members at all? To the Football Team we leave a football game they can win without saying, "We got cheated." To the Girls' Basketball team we say, "Remove Ace and what's left? Nothing Horton." To Janet Barden we say, "You'll always be tons of fun." To Kathryn Wallace we leave a three year supply of double strength Dry and Clear. To Hakim Allah we say, "Get that porkchop out your pocket." To Jeffrey Powell we leave his own private '50's day. To Steve Guyton we leave a pair of tweezers to remove the splinters from basketball season. To the 79-80 Cheerleaders of Shabazz we leave sweaters that won't run, bucks that won't turn colors, skirts that won't fade, and, most of all, a new cheer. To Barbara Holloman we leave the formula: WIG-HIP-LEG, etc., etc., etc. To Wali we leave a woman his own size so he can leave Mavis alone. To Martha Barnwell we leave a mouth clamp. To Kevin Key we leave a pill to reduce the size of his head. To all the expectant mothers of the senior class we ask, "What do you think they made the pill for?" To Gloria Benford we ask, "Are you really graduating?" To Andre Jackson and Marsha Williams we ask, "Who do you think you are? Peaches and Herb?" To Jennifer Grady we leave a copy of the soon to be published novel How to be a True Friend. To the office clerks we leave an even amount of work. To the Freshmen we leave three more hard years with Mr. Mayes. To the Sophomores we leave two more years with the above named. To the Juniors we leave the HOMECOMING OF THE DECADE. To Mr. Barrett we leave you this question, "Did you really have to take our Homecoming away?" To Mr. Farber we leave halls that do have to be checked. To Mrs. Murphy we leave a grading system that the teachers can understand. To Mrs. Hammond we leave a rained out softball season. To Mr. Brown we leave a transfer to Weequahic so he doesn't have to go there every day. To the librarians we say, "Shut up, yourself." To Mr. Gerardo we leave, "The Italian Stallion." To Mr. Stewart we leave the book 101 Ways to Gain Weight. To Mr. Finch we leave a new book of plays. To Mr. Salama we leave a ticket back to Egypt. To Ms. Lowe we leave a warning, "Timothy Grant is out to get you." To Mr. Cook we leave a school administration that can work with him. To Mrs. Mendelson in the Guidance Office, we leave a doll that says, "Where are you going? Where is your pass?" To Mrs. Means we ask, "Do you really have any children?" To Ms. A. Williams we say, "It's time for a change, like your hairdo." To Mrs. Crutchfield we leave a bike to help her get to the homerooms. To Ms. Cannon we leave a class she can call her own." To Ms. Campbell we leave more work so she can stay off a day. To the Biology lab we leave Mrs. Pollak's brain and a clamp for her mouth. To Mrs. Towe we say, "Congratulations for winning the Miss Piggy Look Alike Contest." To Mr. Davis we ask, "Did you see 'Roots'?" To Mr. Mayes we say, "Do the freshmen a favor . . . QUIT!" To Mrs. Stevenson we leave a job at Ebony Fashion Fair. To Mrs. Brownlee we leave a chemistry class where the students won't blow her up. To Mrs. Mackay we leave a legible handwriting. To Mrs. A. Johnson we say, "Get rid of the student teacher. She's taking your job." To Mr. Patel we leave a class that understands his language. To Miss Nittoli we say, "Seniors are not for you." To Mr. Ormsby we leave his very own camera shop. To Mrs. Mansbach we ask, "Don't you think you've been here long enough?" To Mrs. Woods we leave a chorus that really can sing. To Mrs. Robinson we say, "Don't take over nothing you can't handle." To Mrs. Little we leave a librarian that students can listen to. To Mrs. Witcher we leave a $10,000 gift certificate for Saks Fifth Avenue. To Mr. Marinello we leave free passes to Burger King. To all of those who feel that we struck below the belt or that this is some type of crucifixion — YOU'RE RIGHT!!
